

To control the avatar

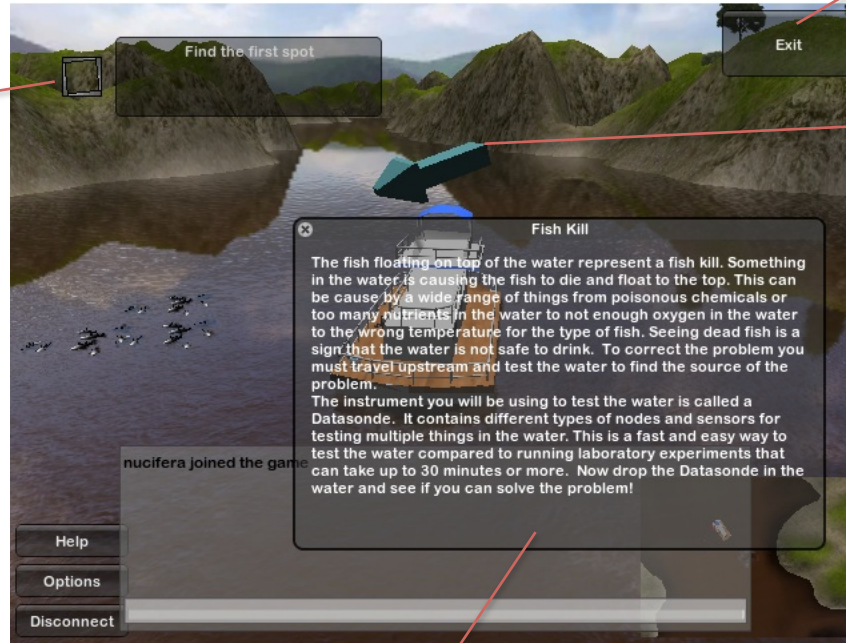

To control the boat

1. Move the avatar into the cabin from the door on the right side of the boat;
2. Click on the steering wheel, the camera will zoom out and you can see the entire boat;
3. Now the boat is ready to sail, control the boat the same way as to control the avatar.

To play the game

Dead fish floating on top of the water, or fish kill, signals that the water is polluted. In this game you are challenged to track and investigate the source of the fish kill. You will be given three types of clues (see the following screen shot) and instruments to conduct various tests. Your task is to test water samples at three suspected locations and determine which location is the source of the fish kill.

Objective list shows the tasks that have been done and the ones need to be done.

Exit from boat navigation mode back to the avatar

The green arrow points to the next spot you need to test.

A text message describes the possible pollution occurring at the location.
